

The Food Distribution ($242/month 2022 Dollars)

Food Insecurity

According to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, world food insecurity is primarily due to three factors.

Factor number one is an exceptional shortfall in aggregate food production/supplies, which results from crop failure, natural disasters, interruption of imports, disruption of distribution, excessive post-harvest losses, or other supply bottlenecks.

Factor two is the widespread lack of access, which occurs when most of the population cannot procure food from local markets due to meager incomes, exceptionally high food prices, or the inability to circulate within the country.

Factor three is severe localized food insecurity due to the influx of refugees, a concentration of internally displaced persons, or areas with combinations of crop failure and deep poverty.

With a common currency and free trade, localized crop failures and natural disasters will have minimal impact on food availability. Protection of objective rights and the right to treble land ends most supply disruptions.

The Earth Dividend ends the problem of low incomes and an absence of local markets, the VIP Treasury prevents exceptionally high food prices, and exit rights avoid the inability to circulate. Refugees are no longer a problem, as they bring their Earth Dividend basket of distributions wherever they roam. Land-based capitalism and the Earth Dividend food distribution will eliminate almost all potential causes of food insecurity.

The Food Distribution

The food distribution will feed a single person with severe budgeting, yet it can provide two comfortably and four more abundantly. Eight people can dine on the finest cuisine. Unlike food programs that reduce benefits to large families, the Earth Dividend food distribution encourages economies of scale.

If you prefer to dine out or purchase fully prepared food, the food distribution can be used as partial or, in some cases, full payment.

Sovereignities that produce and distribute food might transfer the food distribution to farmers to purchase livestock, seeds, and farm equipment.
